Biography

Dr. Sarah Theule-Lubienski

Dr. Theule-Lubienski is Associate Professor of Mathematics Education at the University of Illinois, Urbana Champaign. Her scholarship centers on intersections of education and equity, focusing on mathematics achievement, instruction, and reform. Recently, Dr. Theule-Lubienski analyzed the National Assessment of Educational Progress mathematics data for trends related to race, gender and SES related disparities in mathematics instruction and achievement. She recently authored Celebrating Diversity and Denying Disparities: A Critical Assessment in Educational Researcher (2003).